Why Work at Duke University’s School of Medicine?

Very Competitive Employer Retirement Contribution Program
- Duke's contribution to the first $20,000 and 52% for $72,000 or less. Your salary significantly exceeds the average employer contribution and it does not vary based on your years of service or what you decide to contribute to your 403b or 457 plan.

Affordable Healthcare Plan Options (including medical, dental, vision, behavioral health, life insurance, etc.)
- Duke University provides health insurance plans with the latest in benefits for optimal health such as primary care, routine checkups, lab tests, preventive services, and free college admission workshops. Our Duke tuition after applying a per semester deductible for up to 8 semesters with Duke's steep, no-questions-asked tuition rate.